SOURCE: Uh huh.

GUMAER: He was, uh, really super sharp guy and, uh, they got him on child molestation. And he wasn't guilty.

SOURCE: Yeah.

GUMAER: But he had worked for the CIA years ago and they wanted him to go back into some...

SOURCE: And he wouldn't do it.

GUMAER: Clandestine work in Africa. And he said no, he's got a family and he's retired and, so then they, they, uh, he had some little company down there so they sicked this little girl down there to work with him and, uh, then she later claimed that he had molested her or whatever.

U.S. GOLD & SILVER COINS OUTPERFORMING ALL OTHER INVESTMENTS!

REPORT ON THE 1985 SUMMER AMERICAN NUMISMATIC CONVENTION

by Steve Cyrkin

At the time of this report, I have just returned from the largest and most popular coin show of the year . . . the American Numismatic Association's Summer Convention. At this show, the greatest amount of buyers and sellers converge every year at this time to do battle. The reason? More coins surface here than at any other show.

For the first time in several years . . . the pace was frantic! Almost everyone you talked to had the same complaint. . . . "There's nothing to buy!" This doesn't mean that there weren't any coins at the show. Coins were EVERYWHERE! It meant there were very few QUALITY coins still available! Properly graded examples of the coins in demand were generally not present at current market levels. I personally haven't had to work so hard to buy coins since the bull market of 1978-80!

BUT IF I WAS LOOKING FOR OFF-QUALITY COINS, I COULD HAVE SPENT TEN MILLION DOLLARS!!!

EXAMPLES:

Average MS60+ Morgan dollar rolls were buyable at $800 or less! I "lucked-out" and sold a dealer 50 rolls at $850 each at the Baltimore Show right before the ANA. By the first day of the convention, he was sorry he bought them.

So-called "commercial uncirculated" $20 Saint Gaudens, $20 & $10 Liberties were EVERYWHERE, and selling for only a small premium over Almost Uncirculated (AU50-55) levels if you had to get rid of them. As usual, the major U.S. Gold dealers were trying to pawn theirs off at or near Mint State-60 levels, but when offered comparable coins, their bids were substantially lower than their posted bids. In contrast, strictly graded MS-60 U.S. Gold coins of all denominations were trading at or above current levels.

Walking Liberty half dollar rolls that were not strictly original and attractive were going cheap. Because of the demand for strict MS63 and better specimens, most "Walker" rolls have been picked-over. On the other hand, original attractive rolls were trading at premiums. I should mention that Walker rolls have TRIPLED over the past couple years. I feel the same thing will happen to Mercury dimes because we are having increasing difficulty locating nice original rolls.

MS60 copper coins were very weak. In fact, copper coins in ALL grades up to and including MS65 were weak! This is because copper spots and tones so easily. One of the top dealers in MS65 coins has taken virtually ALL copper coins off of his recommended purchase list. We are going to watch this market very carefully. Better and better coin holders are being developed, and if prices on these coins drop to bargain-basement levels, you might see them on our recommended list in MS63 or better in the future . . . as long as I feel they can be safely stored.

NOW WHAT WAS STRONG IN THE MARKET???

MS63 and better U.S. gold coins were hotter than a fire cracker. Everyone, but everyone wanted nice gold. It's surprising to say, but the prices on most common date gold coins have exceeded 1980 levels in these premium grades. This market is SO hot that we are monitoring all MS63, 64 and 65 gold coins to determine which ones have just started to move and which have already realized most of their potential. We are preparing a special report on this subject. Call to reserve your free copy. This information is vital before your next purchase of U.S. Gold!

There was also an amazing amount of strength in the high quality Morgan and Peace dollar market. The demand for strict MS63 to MS67 (and 68 and 69?) dollars had never been higher! The new bid levels of about $500 and up for common MS65 examples seemed to bring few more coins into the market than $165 did less than two years ago, but dealers were reluctant to raise them much higher at the moment because it didn't seem to help the available supply. MS63, MS64 and MS67(+) dollars, on the other hand, were wanted at higher than the current bid levels. It was not unusual, for example, to see strict MS64 dollars trading at 50% or more over current "Gray Sheet" prices . . . and if you wanted a Mint State 67(+) "wonder coin" . . . there was no reason to bother trying to locate one unless you were willing to pay at least three times bid! Even with these price increases, I wouldn't be surprised to see these coins double or more in the next couple years because the demand is PHENOMINAL!

The silver commemorative half dollar market is another rising star in the numismatic investment universe. Currently most of the price increases are in the MS64 and MS65 grades, but it is getting increasingly hard to find STRICTLY GRADED MS63 examples at current levels. We were actively searching for strict MS63 and better commemoratives at this show, but were only able to find about $200,000 worth . . . and the majority of that was from one deal! It was obvious that other dealers were having the same problem or worse finding the coins. This leads me to believe "commems" have nowhere to go but up.

What The Experts Think Of Us

"Steve Cyrkin of American Federal is one of the few coin dealers that makes a conscientious effort to grade coins conservatively and price them fairly. His honesty, integrity and rare coin knowledge are all beyond question."

David Hall — editor "INSIDE VIEW"

"Steve Cyrkin of American Federal grew up in the coin business, and this fact, together with his extensive experience in the world's largest numismatic arena, Southern California, has given him terrific market feel. What I've always liked about the man is his overall sense of top quality, both in how he conducts business and in the coins he buys for his clients. Steve has high standards, and I find that heartening."

David C. Stagg III — President David C. Stagg III Rare Coins

"Congratulations on the expansion of your business there in Phoenix, American Federal Rare Coin & Bullion. It has always been a pleasure dealing with you in the past and we look forward to many more years of continued success working with your organization."

Glen Gregos, Vice President — SafraBank (CA)

"Steve Cyrkin and Nick Grovich are among the few dealers that enable investors today in the U.S. to invest in accurately graded and competitively priced coins that will provide quick and easy liquidation when the time comes."

Fred Weinberg, President — Fred Weinberg Co.

RARE COINS WITH 60% IMMEDIATE POTENTIAL!

COINS ON THE MOVE

by Nick Grovich
Director of Numismatics

Based on current market trends we have found some exceptional values in the rare coin market. We are so confident of the potential for these coins that we have made predictions of prices within the next 12 months.

We attend all major coin shows and deal with literally hundreds of other dealers. This helps to keep us informed on market trends and prices. Unfortunately many of the coins we wish to recommend are not available in large quantities. Call for availability.

1. $20 Liberty in MS-63 and better. These coins are extremely rare. When compared to most other so-called "common" gold coins, $20 Liberties are vastly underpriced. These coins are very difficult to obtain in strict MS-63 condition.

Current price: $1,395.00

Projected Price within 12 months: $2,000.00

2. 19th Century Type Coins. These are coins that are so scarce they are collected by design and denomination rather than by series (where you save one of every date). Examples:

- A. 1860-1873 Seated Liberty Half Dimes with Legend, Proof-63

Current Price $950.00

Projected Price $1,400.00

- B. 1892-1916 Barber Dimes MS-63

Current Price $425.00

Projected Price $675.00

- C. 1892-1916 Barber Half Dollars

Current Price $1,450.00

Projected Price $2,200.00+

- D. 1866-1891 Seated Liberty Quarters PR-63

Current Price $1,200.00

Projected Price $1,800.00

- E. Liberty Nickles MS-63

Current Price $325.00

Projected Price $500.00+

3. Mercury Dime Rolls in original MS-63 up to and including MS-65. Rolls of Mercury Dimes seen destined to repeat history. Rolls are currently being sought after by both dealers and investors. Many want to buy these rolls while we can still buy quality coins. The last time we saw an opportunity like this was late 1982 when Walking Liberty Half Dollar rolls were about $1,300.00 and skyrocketed to over $3,000.00. Mercury dimes should be next. Current Price $675.00-$1,250.00 (depending on dates)

Projected Price $1,100.00-$2,900.00

4. Commemorative Half Dollars MS-63 & better. Commemoratives have long been extremely prized by collectors. This market now provides the liquidity and investor base that silver dollars have long enjoyed. The mintages are extremely small (many less than 50,000 minted!).

Alabama, Albany, Bay Bridge, Boone, Bridgeport, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbia, Connecticut, Delaware, Elgin, Gettysburg, Iowa, Lexington, Wisconsin, Ft. Vancouver, York, Huguenot-Walloon, Grant, Lincoln, Long Island, Lynchburg, Maryland, Monroe, New Rochelle, Norfolk, Oregon, 1920 Pilgrim Rhode Island, Roanoke, Robinson-Arkansas, Stone Mountain, San Diego. Projected Increase 60% - 110%

U.S. GOLD COINS FOR BULLION INVESTORS

While U.S. gold coins have been closely related to bullion prices in the past, they now offer an extremely more effective market hedge. U. S. gold has far outperformed bullion as the chart below shows.

AMERICAN FEDERAL NUMISMATIC PRICES

Jan. 28, 1983 - Aug. 14, 1985

	JAN. 28, 1983		AUG. 14, 1985
	GOLD SPOT $481		GOLD SPOT $326 → DOWN (→) 32%
	MS60	MS63	MS60	INCR.	MS63	INCR.
$20 LIBERTY	$575	$750	$730	+ 26%	$1275	+ 70%
$20 ST. GAUDEN	$625	$725	$825	+ 32%	$1200	+ 65%
$10 LIBERTY	$325	$650	$515	+ 58%	$1680	+160%
$10 INDIAN	$475	$926	$1150	+142%	$2075	+124%
$ 5 LIBERTY	$225	$475	$395	+ 75%	$1250	+163%
$ 5 INDIAN	$600	$1000	$1125	+ 87%	$2800	+180%
$2½ LIBERTY	$450	$650	$920	+104%	$1395	+115%
$2½ INDIAN	$225	$575	$475	+111%	$960	+ 67%

These coin increases occurred during a period of soft and declining bullion prices. In fact, it was a period most would consider deflationary. Not only did U.S. gold coins prove to be a better store of value but they also appreciated considerably during this period of time.

We at American Federal feel that with current government regulations and attacks on bullion, there will be even greater increases in the near future. Certainly, U.S. gold coins have proven to be much safer and more stable than gold bullion.

THE AMERICAN FEDERAL GUARANTEE

Every numismatic coin that American Federal sells is strictly graded in accordance to American Numismatic Association grading standards as set forth in the book Official A.N.A. Grading Standards for United States Coins. Furthermore, we guarantee to repurchase every coin we sell at the same grade as sold at our current market bid, so long as the coin has been maintained in its original condition and is in our holder.

Every coin American Federal sells is guaranteed genuine. We are so confident you will never receive a counterfeit from American Federal that we will pay you twenty-seven percent (27%) per year compounded or current market value, whichever is higher.

MORE IN BOSTON THAN BEANS

by Ellen Marder

The Bay State Numismatic Exhibition in Boston is such a large and important event, my hosts suggested that I join them for the pre-exhibit, dealers only set-up, prior to the public opening the following morning. They felt that this would give me the opportunity to acclimate myself to the bourse (trading floor) and meet various national and international rare coin dealers prior to the expected crush of public attendance. They also felt, and I heartily agreed, that prior to public admission they could spend the time alerting me to what is currently important in coins, prices and personalities.

Because the show had not yet officially opened, my hosts supplied me with the all-necessary Purple Dealer Badge which I promptly and proudly pinned on for the necessary admittance.

We had expected a leisurely evening of coin viewing, price updating and people meetings; what I did not expect was the whirlwind of activity that lasted throughout the evening, as major dealers redid their displays, laid out their finest coins, and oiled their calculators in preparation for dealing with their most savvy customers and their competitors.

The bellweather of any industry is not, strangely enough, how the industry deals with the public (you and I) but rather how its members deal with each other. For four hours I witnessed significant members of the wholesale numismatic industry deal with each other in such a frenzy that I have never seen while dealing in the retail market.

Since the real movers in the numismatic world are the wholesalers, it was of vital interest to me, and I believe of great importance to you, to learn what the smart money is buying.

Gem material was eagerly sought after. Bids were made at stronger and stronger prices, e.g. 1881-S MS-65 Proof-like Morgans bid at $775.00 dealer to dealer.

There were many more buyers than sellers with the strongest coins undoubtedly being Gem MS-65 Walking Liberty Halves, Morgans, and above all, U.S. gold.

Both the Commemorative and Morgans MS-63 and 64 grade were in high demand. But the experts were right in their judgment because these were the coins most in demand by the throngs of collectors and investors that attended the public show.

Now that I have let you know what was being actively purchased, let me tell you how it was being purchased; which you'll see is almost as important. Although many dealers take checks with proper identification and some are even equipped to take credit cards, cash has always been the payment of choice for the conservative and discreet investor.

The Bay State coin show was no exception to this general rule. But I witnessed a preponderance of $100 bills amongst the cash transactions.

Could it be that these astute investors just happened to be collectors of engravings of Franklin or could it be that they are aware of the government's preparations to replace these solid America notes with pretty postal pictures with metal computer codes.

American Federal will be available to give you updates on all future shows and information on the new currency and what it means to you.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN THE RARE COIN MARKET!

by Edie Dignan

Greater activity at all levels and higher prices typify the condition of today's numismatic market. Despite the protracted bear market in gold and silver bullion, rare coins give every indication of being on the threshold of a major new bull market! Many dealers we talk to feel that prices over the next two years could outpace the fantastic market of 1980!

Some of the reasons we are so optimistic on the market outlook are: collectors are back and they are leading the way; larger numbers of dealers as well as investors; increased public awareness of the rare coin market as a result of heavy marketing campaigns by the larger investment houses; favorable research reports every year by Salomon Brothers; Government regulations that affect bullion or bullion sales but not rare coins and privacy! Supplies are diminishing while demand is increasing. This results in a supply-demand relationship that virtually insures the long-term investor/collector a satisfying return on capital. In fact, the most common dealer complaint we hear is the difficulty they have in obtaining enough high quality material to meet their current needs!

We believe that rare coins belong in nearly every portfolio! If you already own rare coins we suggest a portfolio review and update. Our Numismatic Department will be happy to provide you with this service free of charge.

INVESTMENT RECOMMENDATIONS

COMMON SENSE PORTFOLIOS

R. E. McMasters, Lawrence Patterson, Gary North, Jim Blanchard, Don McAlvany and Howard Ruff have all highly recommended Rare Coins over the past year. I feel that is a major break-through in the rare coin market. It provides for more information being made available, more investors asking questions, and more people overall buying rare coins than ever before in history. This is making rare coins as viable as stocks, CD's, and T-Bills to investors.

There is however, one problem. Most are recommending whatever is very available. RARE COIN INVESTING MUST BE APPROACHED THE SAME WAY ONE WOULD ATTEMPT TO BUY STOCKS. Investors do not buy one stock because the stock market is going up. Instead they put together balanced portfolios of varied stocks. The portfolio may have several "blue chips," some speculative and so on. In this way an investor is prepared to maximize gains in the market.

Rare coins must be approached the same way. Don't randomly buy coins! Have a goal to accumulate a portfolio before the big move in prices. Liquidate losers so you can be in position to make gains. Diversify to obtain stability. This doesn't mean to purchase large numbers of coins just to buy variety. There are several major areas to consider when assembling a rare coin portfolio. Market conditions and specific investor goals must determine which groups to buy. American Federal specializes in assembling portfolios to fit investor needs. In this article we would like to explain our major investment groups.

1. Silver Dollars. Silver dollars are the most popular and recognized rare coin. They are also one of the most available rare coins. For this reason they are the most promoted coin in the market. Unfortunately, because these coins are so familiar most investors do not take care in purchasing them. These coins are directly affected by investor and promoter demand. We recommend MS-63, MS-64, and MS-65 coins, I feel that silver dollars in the higher grades are a fairly short term hold item (1 to 2 years) for maximum gains. After this silver dollars will move more slowly, and profits will probably be increased elsewhere. Buy both common and rarer date coins in MS-63, MS-64, and MS-65. We highly recommend selling BU Rolls of average quality dollars. Most lower quality rolls have very little potential at this point and even if silver bullion increases they will be slow to react. One reason is that investors are more educated than they were in the 1970's and understand the need for quality. The highly recommended MS-63, MS-64, and MS-65 silver dollars offer extreme liquidity and demand. American Federal will assist you in liquidating unwanted dollar rolls and in purchasing higher quality coins.

2. Commemorative Coins. Commemorative coins have recently become a very attractive market for investment. There are over 50 different commemoratives. These coins are no longer a thinly traded oddity exclusively for collectors. In fact they have recently become one of the most widely traded coins. Collectors provide a very stable base for prices and therefore greatly reduce the risk of loss in this area. Interestingly, both silver dollar investors and dealers are turning toward commemoratives. These rarities therefore should increase tremendously because even with large numbers of coins available, silver dollars performed tremendously. With the small quantities of commemoratives we should see very substantial increases in the next 1 to 3 years. We highly recommend MS-63 and MS-65 coins for immediate purchases.

3. U.S. Gold Coins. Most U.S. gold coins in MS-60 grade have lagged behind the rest of the coin market. Many people purchased these coins in the hopes of substantially higher bullion prices. As a bullion related hedge these coins served the purpose. Over the long term, 3-5 years, these coins will perform. We will need a bit of activity in the bullion markets (up, not down!) for MS-60 grade, with a few exceptions, to make their move. MS-60 gold coins are the perfect coin for bullion related investments.

Currently we recommend rare U.S. gold coins — MS-63, MS-64, and MS-65 as well as rare types and dates. We feel that this is by far one of the most underpriced sectors of the market. Proportionate to silver dollars, U.S. gold coins are 1/10th the price! This area of U.S. gold is a top priority purchase because of inevitable price increases and extreme rarity. Call for specific recommendations and coin availability. U.S. gold coins in MS-60 are a good investment if you want to accumulate gold at the low current prices, but not recommended as a truly "rare" coin, and we see little reason to hold them or buy them in anticipation of short term profits. It may be a good time to examine your portfolio, or have us do a rare coin portfolio update for you, and decide if the MS-60 gold you may have in your portfolio is there for the right reason.

4. 20th Century Type. In this category we include Walking Liberty half dollars, Mercury dimes, Buffalo nickels and selected early date Washington quarters. We do not include Roosevelt dimes, Jefferson nickels, late date Washington quarters, Franklin half dollars or most Lincoln cents. Those coins are modern coins and should not be considered for investment. We recommend that you sell the modern coins as they offer the least potential for appreciation. The 20th Century type, which include most coins minted in the WW II era and earlier, are a most unique opportunity. Buffalo nickels and Mercury dimes can still be found by the roll. Fortunately they are still high quality, usually ranging from MS-63 up to and including MS-65. It will not be long before these rolls become non-existent such as the Walking Liberty half dollar rolls or the Original Morgan dollar rolls. Most of the previously mentioned rolls have been picked over and the above average quality coins removed. Until this happens to Mercury dimes we recommend purchasing several rolls. The 20th Century type is a natural for first time investors and investors who don't wish to put large amounts of money in any one coin. These coins should appreciate immediately and continue for many years. An excellent area to invest for long-term gains.

Even in Proof-65 condition, Mercury dimes and Walking Liberty halves are available at reasonable prices, starting at just under $1,000 per coin. We feel that these early Proofs in 65 condition are truly rare and very underpriced. An appreciation of over 200% would not surprise us. Proof-65 is a very difficult quality to obtain except for more modern coins. Modern coins have usually been packaged in cellophane or hard plastic. The older coins have been removed as the cellophane became brittle. Many coins have been mishandled or incorrectly stored. Observe the low mintages of the following coins:

Year	Mercury Dime	Walking Liberty Half
1936	4130	3901
1937	5756	5728
1938	8728	8152
1939	9321	8808
1940	11,827	11,279
1941	16,557	15,412
1942	22,329	21,120

It is easy to see that we will have substantial increases with even minimal demand. Compare these mintages with the modern mintages of the 1960's and 1970's of over 3,000,000 coins in Proof condition per year.

5. 19th Century Type. These are coins minted in the 1800's. The most popular are the Seated Liberty coins in their various types (with motto, with stars, etc.), the Barber coinage, Liberty nickels, Three-cent nickels, Three-cent silver and Trade dollars.

This area is for the more sophisticated collector and astute investor. It is an area unlike silver dollars which can be traded in and out of. 19th century type includes some of the rarest and unusual coins. In quantity these coins do not exist. They are more for the long term hold. Typically these coins are more expensive and provide a safe store of value as well as a consistent steady increase in price.

19th Century Type coins is one of the most stable areas of the coin market. One reason for this is that there are no large sources or reserves of 19th Century type coins, therefore it is almost impossible to flood the market with coins. Also a falling bullion market cannot trigger a panic selling since collections of 100 pieces are considered large. In a rising market, prices can increase at unbelievable rates. Some coin experts are predicting well over an 800% increase in certain coins in the next 2 years. Since it is hard to replace 19th Century coins most investors and collectors are reluctant to liquidate this portion of their portfolio. This again contributes to a stable market with an extremely strong following.

We recommend accumulating top quality MS-63, MS-64, and MS-65 coins as they become available. These coins are the most difficult to find in the choice qualities. American Federal keeps a constant list of investors wishing to purchase these coins and will add additional clients to it to keep everyone up to date on availability.

American Federal also offers client participating portfolio management. Many of our clients specialize in certain coin areas and/or specific grades (example MS-65 silver dollars). We welcome the knowledgeable investor.

We also provide free coin appraisals and portfolio recommendations. American Federal will help in the client's liquidation of coins as well as in the purchase of other coins.

If you need a portfolio, review, please call American Federal at 1 (800) 221-7694 outside of AZ, or call (602) 277-3703 in AZ., OR: fill out the attached coupon and send it to American Federal, 3003 N. Central #119, Phoenix, AZ 85012. We will also include free, our Rare Coin Outlooks which contains more detailed and specific information in the rare coin market.

90% GOLD COIN BAGS: PRIVACY, PROFIT AND SAFETY

Many of our clients have expressed a desire to find an investment that will combine the best of bullion and rare coins, in order to preserve their wealth in a liquid form free from government regulation and the worries of coin grading.

The answer is actually so simple that most people have completely overlooked it — bags of 90% gold coins! Unlike bags of 90% silver a person can carry several bags of gold coins ($1,000 face value) completely undetected. Silver dollar bags and 90% silver bags weigh well over 50 lbs. each. Those clients who have had the problems of shipping and storing silver and silver dollar bags need hear no more. Of course weight alone is not a good reason to invest in gold bags, even if there is an approximate savings of $60 per bag each way of shipping. Gold bags serve the same purpose as bags of silver or silver dollars.

1. They are very closely related to the price of bullion.
2. They are an excellent hedge against an unsure economy and preserve wealth.
3. Gold coins are easily recognized (just like silver dollars) and therefore provide extreme liquidity and are easily traded.

Privacy is also a major concern. It is no secret we are all losing confidentiality and privacy to government regulation. At a recent seminar an attendee echoed the government's favorite line — "The government is here to protect us, if you aren't doing anything wrong why should we care!" It is just this philosophy that has caused our problems.

Currently the IRS requires a 1099 form filled out on most bullion sales from clients. Many dealers have not complied but will be subject to fines as enforcement tightens. U.S. gold coins (even circulated!) do not come under attack. They qualify as numismatic coins under IRS definitions which states the coin must have a whole-sale value of at least 15% over melt or bullion value. This makes U.S. gold coins easy to buy and sell, not to mention cutting down on paperwork.

Confiscation of gold and silver bullion is frequently discussed by major newsletter writers. It is a distinct possibility in the future. In fact, with the swiftness Congress has moved against the Krugerrand, it is a distinct probability.

The Emergency Powers Act specifically exempts U.S. gold coins with collectors value from confiscation. The coins I recommend in more detail at the end of the article are dated 1907 and earlier. These coins offer a great amount of safety against confiscation.

I am seeing a great number of bullion investors moving towards circulated gold coin bags as the attack on Krugerrands continues. This should add increased stability to this market. It is obvious even to a casual observer that many investors are turning towards U.S. coins and rare coins.

There are other advantages. Gold coin bags make sense. In comparison to circulated silver dollar bags, gold coins are far superior.

1. Silver dollar bags come in a minimum grade of VG8 or 8 on the grading scale.
2. Gold coins are much more rare than silver dollars or silver coins. U.S. gold coins experienced huge meltdowns not only in this country but also in Europe and China. This means as demand is growing it will become harder to trade silver coins for U.S. gold coins.
3. Most investors think gold coins are very expensive. Gold coins are actually a much better buy than silver dollars. Dollar for dollar a person gets much more bullion in gold coins

Bank financing is available on these gold coins through American Federal. We will deliver the coins to the bank for full inspection and verification.

Currently we recommend the following two assortments of 90% gold coins:

- 1 Bag ($1000 face value) $20 Liberty @ $24,440
- 1 Bag ($1000 face value) $10 Liberty @ $28,900

As with bags of silver coins and silver dollar bags of 90%, gold coins may be purchased in fractions of 1/10, 1/4, 1/2, 3/4 of a bag and in quantities to 10 bags per order.

Circulated U.S. gold coins are highly recommended for investors interested in bullion coins. These coins offer the ultimate in safety while providing a bullion hedge.

PLATINUM & POLITICS

by David E. GuMaer

The recent resurgence of public interest in the platinum group metals, after more than two years of ho-hum sideways trading, is the direct result of the growing political unrest and turmoil in South Africa.

Rarely mentioned in the media, however, is the fact that most of the chaos has been fomented against that nation by an international cabal of pro-Soviet agitators bent on destroying South Africa's stable economy as a prelude to a Marxist takeover. Among the key targets, of course, are some 27 gold and coal mines as well as all platinum production at Merensky Reef. Intelligence sources reveal that the Soviet Union has long looked with envy at the vast strategic mineral and precious metal and diamond wealth of that once-peaceful nation and plans continued violence in that sector of the African continent.

Due to the sensationalist world media coverage this past year of South Africa's internal problems, it has finally dawned on the astute American investor that fully 80% of the Western World's output of this vital, irreplaceable metal—Platinum—is now imminently endangered should the Soviets and their fellow travelers in the West succeed in their current gambit. This focus of attention on platinum, therefore, has thus far resulted in a 40% run-up in value in just six months and could signal the approaching end of a long and boring bear market in both gold and silver bullion, as well.

From its February 1985 lows of $246, to its late August high of $348, platinum has once again succeeded in capturing financial page headlines in newspapers around the world from Zurich to Singapore. What was never explained, however, is that platinum is actually five times more rare than gold and has traditionally traded at 20% over gold bullion spot prices, except during the past year when it dipped to 20% below gold. At the peak of the last major metals advance in early 1980, platinum was trading at an all-time high of $1,085 per troy ounce after gold bullion peaked at $850 that January. Platinum at its current market level, therefore, is vastly undervalued at this time.

As a sure hedge against the day when platinum is in short supply, and for a really safe form of investment for the future, we highly recommend the purchase of platinum coins over bullion. Some years ago Britain's Isle of Man began the minting of a one-troy-ounce platinum coin to compete with a host of other precious metals investments, primarily the South African Krugerrand. And now that the Krugerrand has been placed on the verge of extinction by Leftists in the U.S. Congress, and may one day become illegal to own in this country as a result, world attention is shifting to this unique Isle of Man platinum coinage. It's called the "Noble." This is the first such platinum coin in general circulation since platinum rubles were minted by Czar Nicholas of Russia 150 years ago!

The Noble has many advantages over platinum bars. It is a fact that the investing public prefers coins over bars in most cases. One need only look at gold to prove it. The Noble is fast becoming the platinum "Maple Leaf" for many reasons. First, it is a legal tender coin. It is such a new coin that it is currently exempt from IRS reporting requirements. The Noble has become very popular in states like California because it is exempt from sales tax there due to its status as a coin and not "bullion." This contributes to its strong demand. When considering platinum investments remember the Noble is the only platinum bullion coin minted for investors.

KRUGERRAND ALERT!!!

TRADE YOUR KRUGERRANDS WITH NO COMMISSION CHARGES

Not only has the premium on the Krugerrand been dropping, but, world-wide trading has also slowed down. International sales of the South African bullion coin dropped almost 70% since last May and the decline is continuing. The premium drop has been anticipated in the market for a long time. The surprising fact is that many dealers are no longer even trading Krugerrands. Several coin shops, and even banks, have now stopped trading in Krugerrands because of protests and demonstrations. It is a shame — but still fact. Deak-Perera suspended trading and will no longer sell Krugerrands. They will repurchase but are only selling for export or resale to wholesalers.

For those of you still holding South African Krugerrands we urgently recommend that you trade them for U.S. gold. American Federal will waive commission on the sale of your Krugerrands in trade for U.S. gold coins.

THE NEW MS-64 GRADE IS HERE

By Nick Grovich

For over a year I have been talking about the "in between grades" being recognized in the market. Many dealers and collectors have complained that this will make grading even harder and more complicated. I wholeheartedly disagree with this thinking. In fact, I believe we will see even more grades develop in the next few years.

There are many good reasons for the new MS-64 grade. The most important is that it was developed to fill a true need by the market. It was not created by any one dealer. Numismatics is a very free market and allowed — or actually demanded — more grades as the market grew.

It was not that long ago when the two basic grades were "Circulated" and "Uncirculated." This system seemed to work fine for those buying coins. Coins were more plentiful and there were fewer buyers. There was very little price difference between the two grades and even less between the different qualities available in Uncirculated grade. Therefore there was no need to have more precise grading. Today the market is vastly different. There are more and more investors as well as collectors entering the market every month. Prices are substantially different than even 15 years ago. Numismatics is not just the hobby of children or a few old men. Rare coins have become the most stable and profitable investment available to investors trying to protect and increase their wealth. The biggest problem we have is buying enough quality coins. Every dealer I know would love to sell MS-65 coins. Unfortunately, there are very few true MS-65 coins available. I believe the investor should buy the best available in the market — MS-63 to MS-65. The desire to own the best has caused great differences in prices between MS-60 and MS-63, MS-63 and MS-65. As stated by David Hall and Jim Cook, to name a few, over 90% of the coins sold as MS-65 are overgraded. Why not buy these coins at the grade most of them are — MS-64. An investment is only good if you can buy it! I would love to buy all MS-65 $5 Indian gold and silver dollars but simply can't.

The MS-64 grade offers one of the best investments in rare coins. These are the best quality available in many instances. MS-64 coins are very reasonably priced. Most MS-64 coins are only half the MS-65 prices. Coins that are very very close to the MS-65 grade but just don't make it or are borderline are MS-64's. There are many coins which are not quite MS-65 but much better than MS-63. For many years, only dealers realized the potential for these high quality coins. For years I have been advising clients to pay a little more and get nicer coins. Prices are continuing up and we will see more grades coming in the future.

The MS-64 grade will prove to be one of the most active areas of the market. Silver dollars were the first series to have listed prices in MS-64. Recently at the many coin shows they have become very popular and are enjoying almost weekly price increases. U.S. gold coins have already started benefiting from the increased activity and pricing of the MS-64. Most recently, other coins such as Liberty nickels, Barber coins and Walking Liberty halves have finally been listed in MS-64.

Typically, with more pricing information and awareness of the MS-64 grade, comes more activity and acceptance and finally price appreciation. Clarifying the grade MS-64 (rather than saying MS-63+ or MS-65-) will benefit the market and make it even stronger. The same thing happened in 1981 when the MS-63 grade was introduced. It was quickly accepted and is today a standard grade with a ready market.

COMPETITIVE PRICES

American Federal believes that rare coins are the best investment for both short and long term profits. However, we realize that many investors still have a need for bullion material. Compare our prices. These prices are indications based on the stated spot prices and are for immediate delivery. All prices include commission!

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

At American Federal we strive to give the client honest coin grading, competitive prices on both bullion and rare coins along with personal service. We provide our clients with information to make correct decisions in the market. We believe in updating our recommendations and make them fit the market. Too many "experts" try to make predictions based on incorrect facts or fictional agencies. They try to find facts to support their predictions. How many years have you been promised $50 silver only to see it lower year after year?

We are for the first time in over a year taking an aggressive position towards the metals along with our standing recommendation for selected rare coins. Even within our rare coin recommendations we feel certain coins should be avoided in favor of coins that will prove to be the big winners. This is why we have prepared two new client reports—one on rare coins in general and one on high grade U.S. Gold!

If you are ever unhappy with our service, please write or call me personally.

I wish to thank our current clients for their continued support.

INFLATION OR DEFLATION?

by Robert North

No other economic question has evoked such passionate response from contemporary economists. We would qualify our remarks by reminding you that economists' record for forecasting is quite dismal! In fact, it has been said that the President's Council of Economic Advisors has successfully predicted 5 out of the last 3 recessions! However, since 1973 the hue and cry of some economists has been the coming disaster of the impending deflationary bust!

The dire predictions of the deflationists center on two basic premises. First, what goes up must come down, so look out for the coming collapse in prices. Second, if you haven't noticed, there is a lot of debt out there. First, you have your ordinary personal debt, then you have your extraordinary domestic debt, and on top of that you have your extraordinary international debt. Now, according to the big "D's" most of the debtors are unable to pay their debt so they feel that massive bankruptcies are inevitable and this will result in a drastic deflation.

Before we examine the basic flaws in this deflationary scenario, let's define our terms: inflation: a substantial increase in the cost of living; deflation: a substantial decrease in the cost of living. The deflationists have been telling us to no longer concern ourselves about inflation. Inflation is licked, so they say, what we should concern ourselves with now is the coming deflation. Don't be discouraged by the fact that they have been predicting this for the past 10 or 12 years.

The first argument of the deflationists is for falling prices. What is the situation today? After suffering through 4 years of the worst depression since 1932, prices are still rising! A 4½% rate of inflation might not seem like much to you, but back in 1971 4½% sure seemed like a lot to President Nixon because that's when he instituted wage price controls. Inflation has a subtle way of desensitizing its victims. After 14½% inflation, 4½% starts to look good. Suddenly a prime rate of 10% looks attractive after 20%! What we all forget is a 10% prime is outrageously high on a historic basis.

Deflationary logicians see that whatever went up must eventually come down. The longer the inflation, the greater the deflationary crash. In previous (1) crashes (2) panics (3) depressions (4) recessions (pick one) prices went down for a specific reason. Before Roosevelt took us off the gold standard, there were stringent limitations on how much the banks (particularly the Fed) could inflate.

Today the powers to inflate are unlimited! For those of you who have doubts please review the Monetary Control Act of 1980! The MCA of 1980 virtually enables the Fed to use toilet paper as reserves to expand the money supply. It could be argued that as compared to pesos, at least the toilet paper has some intrinsic value. All history is a confirmation of the fact that those who control the money machine will abuse the privilege or as Murray Rothbard says, "It is a law of human nature as well as history that he who has the power to counterfeit will use it." Recent experience illustrates how politically popular and expedient it has become to utilize the money machine to buy supporters and elections. The next question posed by the deflationists is that of massive debt. The deflationists contend that the debtors cannot possibly continue to service their debts and that this will bring about a tremendous wave of bankruptcies which in turn will lead to a deflationary depression. Not only does this argument ignore history, it ignores recent events! It is already public knowledge that the government has a list of banks it considers too big to fail (TBTF). The failure and subsequent bailout of Continental Illinois Bank is ample proof of the government's intention to prop up the system. Lockheed and Chrysler Corporation merely serve to illustrate the government also takes the position that there are corporations too big to fail! As for the possibility of massive defaults by international debtors, please take note of the international banking system and the Fed eagerness to accommodate these deadbeats.

It is easier for Poland, Brazil or Tanzania to reschedule their debts or obtain new low-interest loans than it is for your kids to get a low-cost mortgage on a new house. It should be apparent to all that country banks can fail but those on the government's most favored list cannot. In the same vein, it is O.K. for small business to go bankrupt while the taxpayer bails out a Lockheed or a Chrysler. Small farmers are foreclosed, but Argentina is extended new credit. In short, the government (and the Fed) have frequently demonstrated their willingness to provide the necessary liquidity whenever they deem necessary.

Those who put forth the deflationary scenario are ignoring history and the actions of our government. Our government has certainly demonstrated two things that the deflationists choose to ignore.

- (1) The government has the power to inflate.
- (2) It should be equally obvious that the government has the will to exercise that power!

To which we would conclude: watch out for the next wave of hyper-inflation, it's going to be a dilly!

Did you see the news this morning?

Oh [ ] was on TV.

Oh, he was?

Yes.

Oh, what the fuck did he say that for?

Oh, he got on there and said that on that...Oh fuck.

Once you get angry or disrupted anywhere in the emotional body, you suck it right in. Then you're subject to it. But to stay calm and deliberate and on purpose, not let anything disrupt you, then it has no effect on you. The thing it does effect is the older people and, uh, people that have various degrees of physical imbalance somewhere that allows it to come in. concept. Cell concept is great. It worked for [redacted] in Europe, but [redacted] for all the publicity they've had, what have they accomplished? Zip. And they've been the most successful terrorist group around. They weren't able to do shit because they relied, they relied on the cell system. They were able to operate against small targets and create a lot of hell, but because they were not willing to structure themselves into a large organization with the (inaudible) security risks, they were ineffective. And the government is bigger than we are. So that decision I think has to be made. Either we're going to be a bunch of pirates out here running around trying to do our little thing and have little or no impact. After a while people say yeah it was kind of interesting. Or we're going to have to set up a very sophisticated long-term effort which means we kiss off July 4th, we keep these weapons being built, but we get a nationwide network that is built up and make damn and do all we can to, um, insure our security, but realize that we're going to have security risks and build in some sort of shield factor to protect us.

There's five or six different tribal Indian groups down there in that area that are indigenous to Nicaragua and, uh, they've already, they're being trained. They're being sent on missions and on July, whatever the date is, they're going to go into Managua when all the key Sandonistas are there for the celebration and all hell's going to break loose.

GUMAER:

I think what you need to do then here is basically what you just said...The procedure, I think everybody, there seemed to be a general consensus, on the substantive value of combining our resources with the resources of this organization you mentioned. Okay? The procedure of that combination is what's going to be critical. The procedural matters. Not the substantive issue. It's how we are integrated with them. What control factors we build around it to protect...

Oh, we're the Communist League.

[REDACTED]

(Not pertinent.)

GUMAER:

The whole idea of, of surv, of winning is a completely low profile, underground operation, um, unbreakable codes, the best you can get them, weapons that the enemy has no counter against and you go at it very carefully and you map everything out and when you're ready to move you have enough of this equipment scattered all over the country and enough practitioners that can handle this equipment and then when the word goes out you'll have a dozen or twenty or fifty of these machines all of a sudden, each with its own group of people that they're working on and headquarters they're aimed at. And all of a sudden it all goes out. All the lights go off, everywhere.

What's going to come out of the ashes? You know, what is planned later on? Because even on the right wing, so called, there's total disparity. Everybody is running in all directions. There's total confusion. Who's going to step in and fill the vacuum and what kind of...

GUMAER: That's just what you're creating. You're creating a vacuum. A vacuum is a natural.

And all those people ended up joining the Minutemen and joining the California Rangers and going off on all these different tangents to the point now where there is no direction. The right wing is totally scattered, fragmented, there is no direct, no direction, no leadership, and how you going to get all those people together in lockstep as a united front. You can't. GUMAER: No, one of the first things. The really top priority is we have to find somebody that either is a reporter or is a photographer or who can travel, has the money and the means and the wherewithall to travel worldwide, or nationwide, has the equipment and can photograph all of these people. All of these facilities.

? [REDACTED]

GUMAER: The reason for that is we need, we definitely need photographs, for example, of the United Nations Building. An actual photograph with a negative. The outside of it and then from the inside of it. Uh, we need photographs of the CFR headquarters, of the Kremlin. Of all the key areas. The, the, uh, the, uh, IRS headquarters in Ogden. The FBI Building here. Of the Communist Party headquarters there. You need a photograph of all the key facilities all around the world and it can be a stack that high when you get through with it. All the key facilities. Then you need a photograph, either in group or singly, of all the conspiracy people. Henry Kissinger. The United Nations in full session. A (inaudible) meeting with all the people. You know, it was done accidentally where they took it.

[REDACTED] GUMAER: Well, uh, if you have, if you have people around working for you around the world and they're all submitting their original photographs to you, you build up a file. Like you go to Worldwide Photos or UPI or somewhere and get a lot of these photographs. After we build up a sufficient file of all the photographs of the people and the facilities, then you can talk about a worldwide program to zap them all down the road a bit at the same time. And scramble all their computers and put an EMP on them or where nothing works, everything goes out. There was an experiment that was accidentally done where they took a whole bunch of photographs of, uh, uh, I think [redacted] (phonetic) or one of these guys did it, where he, he photographed an orchard or several orchards and the different kinds of bugs that were eating on the, on the fruit there when he was doing this experiment and inadvertently put them all in the same, same machine at the same time and what they did was they scrambled the genetic codes and all the trees died. Instead of helping the fruit to survive the onslaught of the insects, so what would happen if you took a hundred photographs of all, of all the United Nations delegates, of the thousand people, and you put all their, one big photograph of all of them. Would it scramble their genetic code. Would it create mutations?

DBG/dlm

I was going to say, let me give you a real quick little before you run. I worked for Liberty Lobby for one year with [REDACTED] and they sent me on a, they sent us both on a, it was called a Survival America. All right? And we travelled around the country for a solid year and, uh, what we would do is, uh, we would go into an area like Denver and they would send out a zip code invitation to all the Libery Lobby members in that area. And out of that whole group of 100 to 200 people we were then, after the meeting, I'd get up and tell them how bad things were. He'd get up and tell them what they could do about it. Out of that whole group we would get money from the people to carry on our operations. We would find out who all the ham radio operators were in that area. We'd find out everybody's expertise and we would recruit people from each audience. But they were all invited to the main speech like on a Friday night. Okay, and then on Saturday and Sunday those people that wanted more indepth information on survival or on resistance or anything else. They'd hang around. They'd come back for Saturday and Sunday for two big long sessions. So we had a free speech on a Friday night, preceded by an ad in the paper for everybody plus all the people that were invited. And then on Saturday and Sunday it was by invitation only to certain selected Liberty Lobby people. You see? So you might do the same thing.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

It's very simple. It's just, you can sit down and...
